COURT OF APPEALS TO REVIEW HARRIS CASE DECEMBER 6

Stay of Execution in Local Murder Case Is Issued and Court of Appeals Fixes Date For Hearing Appeal of Lewis Harris' Sentenced to Die.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals yesterday fixed Friday, December 6, as the date for the hearing of the appeal of Lewis Harris, convicted of murder in the Mason Circuit Court and sentenced to die in the electric chair at the Eddyville penitentiary on Saturday, December 28th.

Circuit Clerk James B. Key has just received from the clerk of the Court of Appeals a stay of execution of the judgment of the local court until the matter is finally settled by the Court of Appeals.

The higher court probably will not return their decision in the case for several days after it is submitted. If the local court is sustained, the defendant will be given a period of thirty days to file grounds and motion for a re-hearing. The motion for a re-hearing will have to be acted upon and if the hearing is refused the Governor will set the date of execution. If the higher court reverses the local court, the case will be returned here for re-trial.

It will be remembered that Harris was found guilty of the murder of his wife by a jury during the last term of the Mason Circuit Court. He is now a prisoner in the Mason county jail and will remain here until after the decision of the Court of Appeals.

NEW ORDINANCE WILL BE OFFERED MONDAY NIGHT

Laws and Ordinance Committee of City Council Holds Meeting at Which Knotty Problems Are Solved.

The Laws and Ordinance committee of the City Council held a meeting in the committee room at the Council Chamber last night in which they discussed several problems that have been facing the city dads and finally agreed on the substance of certain new ordinances which are being drafted by City Attorney Daly and will be presented at the meeting of Council Monday night.

An ordinance solving the garbage collection and disposal question was decided upon. An official garbage collector will be provided for and this office will be awarded on bid, the successful bidder being required to give bond.

The committee also will change the ordinance providing for the election of a Prison Guard and fixing his duties. Under the proposed new ordinance the guard will be paid a straight salary and he will work every day under the supervision of the Street Commissioner whether he has prisoners or not.

Another bill providing for the increase of the City Alms House physician from $160 to $240 a year was asked for and will be offered on Monday evening.

AS TRIBUTE TO ENGLAND FLY UNION JACK DECEMBER 7

In recognition of the part played by Great Britain in bringing the war to a successful conclusion, Edward W. Hines, chairman, and Pendleton Beckley, executive secretary of the State Council of Defense, have issued a call to the citizens of Louisville and Kentucky to "fly the Union Jack" on December 7.

The notice also urges churches of all denominations to participate in the church celebration on Sunday, December 7.

"Great Britain," says the circular, "sank or captured 160 enemy submarines during the war and contributed the services of 8,000,000 men to the allied cause."

ED. RAND ASKS FOR DAMAGES AGAINST COUNTY OF LEWIS

Lewis County Contractor Files Suit Against Lewis County and Fleming Jones, Another Contractor, Charging Breach of Contract.

Another echo from the Lewis county road troubles was heard here this morning when attorneys for Ed Rand, who at the last session of the Mason Circuit Court was acquitted of a charge of conspiracy to fraud Lewis county in the construction of roads, filed suit asking damages in the sum of $12,000 from Fleming Jones and Lewis county. Attorneys R. B. Wilson, of Vanceburg and A. D. Cole, of this city, represent Rand.

In his petition, which is one of the longest ever filed in the local court, Rand recites all of the terms of the contract between Fleming Jones and Lewis county for the construction of the Concord Hill road, which has been the matter of litigation for many years in Lewis county. He states that he entered into a contract with Jones whereby he sub-let the stone and concrete masonry work and steel and iron work in connection with the construction of bridges and culverts along the road to Rand. Rand states that by the terms of this contract Jones agreed to release any and all of his rights in the work mentioned but he charges that he later settled with Lewis county.

The plaintiff states that notwithstanding the agreement of the defendant, Fleming Jones, as set forth in his contract with the plaintiff, to release any and all rights he may have had in the work mentioned therein to the plaintiff, he did on or about August 10, 1918, and on divers and sundry occasions prior thereto, break his contract, in that he entered into a written agreement with Lewis county whereby in consideration of $768 he undertook to release his co-defendant from all claims and demands arising out of the contract between Jones and the county which was then in litigation and that the defendant Lewis county, notwithstanding its obligation to the plaintiff, under and pursuant to the contract between Lewis county and Jones, has failed and refused to comply with its contract in that it has failed and refused to settle with the plaintiff in full for the construction of the bridges along the road.

The plaintiff, Rand, claims to have been damaged in the sum of $12,000 and asks for judgment against Fleming Jones and Lewis county each and both for the sum of $12,000 and his costs.

WILL EXPLAIN HOW WE WON GREAT CONFLICT

Representative of the Government Will Be Here on December 4 to Make Interesting Address to the People of Mason County.

On Wednesday, December 4, Maysville and Mason county people will have the opportunity of hearing explained by a representative of the United States government some of the reasons why the Allied cause was victorious in the great conflict which is now being brought to a close.

This gentleman, whose name has not yet been made known, will be a speaker of reputation and comes to Maysville under the auspices of the War Activities Board.

The meeting will be held in the Gem Theater at noon and all who can attend are invited. Because of the restrictions of the Board of Health those attending can occupy only every other seat and it is more than likely that many will be turned away.

This meeting, like others being held in nearby towns, is a part of the big war demonstration being held in Cincinnati during the first of December.

PRESIDENT NAMES FIVE DELEGATES TO PEACE MEET

General of U. S. Army Is One of the Number and President Himself, Leads List.

Washington, November 30—As had been foreshadowed, the President has named Secretary Lansing, Henry White, former ambassador to France and Italy, and Col. House as delegates to the peace conference. He has added to the list the name of Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, representative of the U. S. army in the Supreme War Council at Versailles. The President himself heads the list as it was given out at the White House, but it is believed that he will attend the conference as President of the United States and not as a delegate.

The White House announcement of the appointments follows:

"It was announced at the executive offices tonight that the representatives of the United States at the peace conference would be: The President himself, the Secretary of State, the Hon. Henry White, recently Ambassador to France; Mr. Edward M. House and General Tasker H. Bliss.

"It was explained that it had not been possible to announce these appointments before because the number of representatives each of the chief belligerents was to send had until a day or two ago been under discussion."

It is believed that the name of General Bliss was added when it was learned that the other principal belligerents would select a military man as one of their representatives.

SERGEANT STRAUS SPOKESMAN FOR QUARTERMASTER'S CORPS

The Louisville Courier-Journal says: Thanksgiving day was celebrated by the Quartermaster's Corps at Camp Taylor with a dinner, at which an elaborate menu was provided for the members of the detachment. As an expression of good will Captain Frank L. Mueller, commanding officer of the detachment, was presented by his men with a diamond ring, the presentation speech being made by First Sergeant Robert L. Straus, who acted as toastmaster at the festivities. The affair closed with the singing of the Quartermaster Corps song, "As We Go Telling On."

CARD FROM REV. LOCKE WHITE

Mr. and Mrs. Ben P. Fleming are in receipt of a card from Rev. Locke White, former pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church who is now a chaplain in the U. S. Army in France on which he says: "Just a line or so to let you know that I have not forgotten you. Am enjoying my work indeed. Give my regards to the little girls."

LEWISBURG BOY DIES OF WOUNDS

Arthur Bramel, son of Mr. Emmitt Bramel, of Lewisburg, died in France recently of wounds according to a telegram just received by his parents from the War Department at Washington. Young Bramel was only 18 years of age, having enlisted at the age of 17. He had been "over there" for several months.

KENTUCKY GUARDS WERE IN ACTUAL SERVICE AT FRONT

Old Kentucky of Which Mason Men Were Members Was Divided and
Some Members Saw Active Service—Main Division on Way Home.

Frankfort, Ky., November 29—Notwithstanding the fact that the 159th Infantry, the new designation of the old 2d Kentucky, is with the 38th Division, which saw no action, a large percentage of the enlisted men, who went to Camp Shelby as members of that regiment have seen service, and many long since were reported in casualty lists.

When the 159th went overseas, outside the auxiliary units and commissioned officers and some noncoms, it was composed largely of Mississippi and Arkansas National Army men, with a sprinkling from Illinois.

The Kentucky volunteers, as far as the enlisted personnel of line companies was concerned, largely had been transferred to other regular and National Guard outfits and been sent across last summer.

The return of the 38th Division does not mean the coming home of Kentucky volunteer infantrymen.

The old 3d Regiment, which had been absorbed into the 159th, largely when infantry regiments were expanded, also is well represented in the combat divisions in France.

Maj. C. W. Longmire, of Frankfort, who was in command of one of the battalions of the 159th, was among the few commissioned officers who got over in time. He was assigned to the 162d Infantry, and many of the Guardsmen served with him in that regiment.

It will be remembered that the band of the old Second Kentucky was in Maysville for several days on a recruiting trip just before the regiment was taken into the national service and that many Maysville and Mason county men—some twenty-five or thirty—enlisted with them while here.

FANS ANXIOUS FOR THE OPENING OF THEATERS

Suggestion That Handkerchiefs Be Distributed at Door Will Be Adopted by Theater Management.

The movie fans are very anxious for the opening of the moving picture houses as is shown by the letters the managers are receiving. The Managers of the Washington this morning received the following which is a sample of the large number received: Messrs. Russell and Watkins, Mgrs. Gentlemen:

For the love of Mike, do open the Opera House next week even if we have to have a physical examination at the door and sit fifty feet apart to see the show. We are all so starved for a movie we would eagerly take in a Wild West or a serial.

I love my home—but oh you picture show!

P. S.—How about presenting handkerchiefs at the door to sneeze in?

Upon the suggestion of the fan the management has secured 5,000 paper handkerchiefs which will be presented at the door.

WILHELM FORMALLY RELINQUISHES RIGHTS

Germans in His Party Think He Will Soon Resume His Throne.

Amsterdam, November 30—William Hohenzollern has definitely renounced all future rights to the crowns of Prussia and Germany and has released all officials and officers from their oaths of fealty, according to the text of a document signed by the former emperor, which is quoted in a telegram received here from Berlin.

The abdication decree, according to the message, expressed the hope that "the new regent" would be able to protect the German people against anarchy, starvation and foreign supremacy. The use of the word regent in the message is commented upon here as possibly significant.

It is understood at Amerongen that the ex-emperor has been awaiting the arrival of his wife before going elsewhere. Germans in his suite believe he will return to Germany and are optimistic enough to think he will resume the throne.

A member of Count Von Bentinck's household said today that the former emperor was greatly moved when his wife arrived, and seemed particularly delighted. One of Herr Hohenzollern's servants is reported to have said that his master was "much brighter," and to have added: "Things are looking better for us."

The remains of Miss Mattie Kate Haas, aged 19, who died at her home in Cincinnati Wednesday, was brought here and burial was made in the Charleston Bottoms cemetery.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

ONE GREAT PROBLEM—OUR MERCHANT MARINE

To formulate a merchant marine policy for the United States after the war will be a problem calling for the earliest and wisest solution of those charged with the work of reconstruction. We have invested in ships upwards of $4,000,000,000. The great fleet is now utilized in the transportation of troops and supplies to France. As soon as peace comes no more soldiers will be sent abroad, and the quantity of army stores to be shipped overseas will rapidly diminish as our armies are brought home. During the first year of peace additional ships will be available almost daily for diversion to the export trade in the products of peace.

Doubtless the United States will operate the vessels for a time, but even the most radical Democratic advocate of government ownership will scarcely favor the retention by the government of a monopoly of our sea-going tonnage. There must be a return to the pre-war conditions of private ownership of our merchant marine. The Republicans will insist on the sale to individuals or corporations of our cargo ships as fast as the lessening of the demands of war makes them available.

But the construction of the vessels represents an outlay of money out of all proportion to their value in times of peace, and far greater than private purchasers can afford to invest. Their production has been a war necessity, and for that reason a large part of their cost should be written off as expenses incidental to the war. If that method were adopted a sales value could be placed on the ships that would make them attractive to investors.

NO TOURING EUROPE IN 1919

The patriotic American will make no sightseeing trip to Europe during the coming year. There are compelling reasons, which should be obvious to all, why he will remain at home.

The first of these is the lack of shipping. We are told that because of scarcity of ships the last of our soldiers abroad will not be able to return home within eighteen months. Every idle sightseer who secures passage on an American-bound vessel will delay the return of an American soldier who is lonely and eager to get back among his friends, and to the work he laid down when he took up arms for his country.

During the coming year there will be a great scarcity of food in Europe. The influx of many thousands of American tourists would increase the scarcity, raise prices and add to the privations of Europe's poor, who have already suffered enough.

Transportation facilities throughout Europe have been greatly demoralized by the war. If crippled European railroads must carry hordes of American tourists to and from much necessary reconstruction work will be delayed.

Finally, it may be pointed out that American pleasure resorts suffered severely last year by reason of war conditions. Why not confine our patronage to them during 1919 and thus enable them to recoup their losses?

The Bolsheviks have planted five Grand Dukes in a single well. Well, the Bolsheviks are thoroughly in earnest in the murder business, though they excel in nothing else.

Demobilization is the happiest word in the English language today. A week ago "peace" was the happiest.

"When do we start home?" has superseded the famous "Where do we go from here?" slogan of the soldiers.

SOLDIER LETTERS

Mrs. James Brown received the following letter from her brother: Somewhere in France, Nov. 4.

Dear Sister:

I received your most kind and welcome letter a few days ago and was so glad to hear from you and know you all are well. This leaves me fine and dandy, getting plenty to eat and wear and having the best of health.

How is daddy? Tell him hello and take good care of himself as there is a lot of sickness everywhere.

I would like to tell you about my trip but I am not allowed to write much. But have lots to tell you when I get home.

What has become of Alma? I don't hear from her often. I want you all to write to me real often and tell me all the news. I certainly enjoy those letters from home. And don't wait for me to write for I don't get much time.

Well the girls here are very pretty but I can't talk to them, all I can do is to make signs.

Give by love and best regards to all my friends and tell them to write to me. Tell them all I will be home soon to join them. As I don't know anything else to write I will close. I will look for a lot of letters from you. I close hoping to hear from you real soon. I remain,

PACKING RABBITS FOR SHIPMENT TO MARKET

Washington—Large numbers of the rabbits received at city markets are being condemned by health authorities on account of spoilage through improper packing for shipment, according to reports to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The exact percentage of rabbits condemned is not known, but in one shipment recently received in Washington, D. C., consisting of 80 rabbits, packed in a box, all but 5 were condemned. On the day this shipment was received rabbits were selling for $1 each on the Washington market.

The unusually warm weather that has prevailed for several weeks, together with improper packing for shipment, is held responsible for the loss of a great portion of this food. During warm weather, particularly if the trip to market is long, rabbits can not be kept in suitable condition unless packed in ice, say specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The shipper should be careful, if the rabbits are not packed in ice, not to pack them while they are wet, nor should the layers in the package be divided by paper or other packing, as such layers of packing prevent proper ventilation. No matter what method of packing is used, the intestines should be drawn from rabbits as soon as they are killed. If this is done and the shipping containers are properly fed or ventilated, and the quickest available means of transportation is used, much of the waste now occurring can be prevented.

A NERVOUS WRECK

From Three Years' Suffering. Says Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work."

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all, and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent, for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui. It did wonders for me."

VALUABLE ADVICE

Maysville Citizens Should Profit By The Following Statement.

Doan's Kidney Pills were used by this Maysville resident.
Their merit was shown—the story told.

Now comes further evidence.
The testimony is confirmed.
The remedy was tested—the results lasted.

Could Maysville residents demand stronger proof?
It's Maysville testimony. It can be investigated.

A Sorries, lock and gun-smith, W.
Second and Wall Sts., gave the following statement in January, 1912:
"The action of my kidneys was irregular and the kidney secretions contained sediment. I had backaches and when I stooped over, I had trouble in straightening up. Colds settled in my back and kidneys, too. Doan's Kidney Pills stopped the trouble and my back and kidneys became as strong and well as ever."

A LASTING EFFECT

On November 14, 1916, Mr. Sorries said: "I am the same strong believer in Doan's Kidney Pills today, as when I gave my former endorsement. I haven't had any trouble with my kidneys in that time and I believe the cure they gave me will be permanent."

Mr. Sorries is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches — If your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mr. Sorries had—the remedy

CHRONOMETERS FOR OUR EMERGENCY FLEET

In a vault of the United States Shipping Board are some of the most beautiful articles ever devised by man. They rest in cases equally beautiful—rosewood, mahogany and other rare woods, with brass-bound corners and engraved name plates in brass or pearl.

Now and then, as occasion requires, a woman comes to this vault and carries away one or two and sometimes three. Her destination may be some part on the coast of Maine or Georgia, or somewhere in the Gulf of Mexico. They are never out of her custody until placed aboard ship, and they are about the last thing delivered when a ship is finished.

She is as proud of her work and as precise about it as if the fate of the nation were at stake. And well she may be, for each has a value not to be bounded by dollars and cents.

These highly prized articles are Ship Chronometers.

In the matter of nice adjustment, precision of movement and beautiful finish, few things devised by man surpass the ship's chronometer. Neither mechanical bent nor artistic temperament is essential to an appreciation of a fine chronometer, especially if it happens to be the creation of one of the old English makers. They were masters of the art, from perfection in mechanical detail to artistic inscriptions and dial marking. The best examples of their handwork are as satisfying as fine old English silver of distinguished hall-mark.

When the United States Shipping Emergency Fleet Corporation pledged itself to build enough ships to carry overseas all our Allies should need in the way of fighting men and food, it was found that we were short of many ship essentials, from raw materials to equipment, and not the least important of these were chronometers.

There were relatively few chronometers in America. The job of producing a supply of these essential instruments fell to the lot of the Supply Division of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, and became one of many like responsibilities carried by the outfitting department of this Division. But the department, of which M. Becker is manager, made good. It brought old chronometers, it tested new ones, and it hit upon a simple scheme to reduce the number required.

To insure accuracy in its chronometers, the Emergency Fleet Corporation has each carefully overhauled and tested; but when the Corporation started to procure chronometers a search was necessary to find a man having thorough knowledge of the subject from the mechanical standpoint. Finally one turned up, and needless to say, he was a Yankee.

He is G. R. S. Killam, of Pawtucket, Rhode Island. Mr. Killam's business was watches, but with a shipbuilding grandfather and his father a shipmaster, he kept the nautical flavor in the family by making chronometers, his hobby. He is now chronometer production examiner of the outfitting department. He receives all chronometers, makes needed repairs and tests and prepares them for shipment.

One distinguishing and nice thing about fine chronometers is that none bears the inscription "Made in Germany." You can't camouflage a poor chronometer so as to make it answer the purpose of a good chronometer, and Germany, in spite of her boasted efficiency, has never equalled either French or English artisans when it comes to workmanship of the highest order and finish.

In the vault referred to there is an unusually fine chronometer, made at least seventy-five years ago by Dent, of London. The case bears the following inscriptions:

Presented by Prince Adalbert of Prussia
To Captain Buckle, R. N.
In Remembrance of His Attention
During the Voyage on Board
H. M. Steam Ship Growler
Along the Coast of Brazil
In the Years of 1842 and 1843
The Prussian Prince had to go to England for his gift.

When the British Admiralty learned of the difficulty of procuring good chronometers for America's new merchant marine, it sought to help us out by sending some over. Among them was Captain Buckle's chronometer.

In some cases private citizens contributed valuable instruments their sale being more in the nature of a formality than a profitable bargain.

An Emergency Fleet Corporation Chronometer, quite as fine as that selected by the Prussian for Captain Buckle, has a card attached to the inside of the case upon which is written the following:

"The previous owner of this, Hon. George Colville, 53 Cadogan Place, S. W. Particularly desired that if possible the chronometer might be transferred to him after the war."

Without doubt this beautiful instrument had associations that made it highly prized by Mr. Colville, and it is to be hoped that his generosity in letting it go will be rewarded by its return.

A complete chronometer outfit consists of the clock or "movement," the "gimbal" or metal ring in which it is suspended, and the carrying case. The movement is a round clock about the size of the familiar alarm clock. Its position, however, is horizontal, or face-up, and this position is maintained without regard to the pitching or rolling of a ship. This is managed by permitting the chronometer and the metal ring enclosing it to swing freely on pivots, as in the case of a compass.

In a good picture of Captain Buckle's chronometer, it is shown suspended by the pivots at the top and bottom of the metal ring. This ring in turn is suspended by pivots at the sides of the box. Therefore, whether the ship list at bow or stern or roll sideways, the chronometer maintains a level position.

While a chronometer is the most nearly perfect time-piece made, they need readjustment and regulating from time to time. No mariner regards his chronometer as infallible, though some have kept remarkable accurate time for months.

The chronometer dates from the latter part of the 18th century, when an English clock maker named Harrison won a reward of 20,000 pounds ($100,000) offered by the British Government.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles."

so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."

—Mrs. MARY BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is your service.

ment for a chronometer that would sufficiently accurate to enable a mariner to get his longitude within half a degree. The earliest chronometers were smaller than the modern instrument, increased size and strength being required to withstand the vibration of the steamship.

How the mariner determines his longitude by the aid of the chronometer is a very simple matter—to him. Forget about ships and navigation for the moment and assume that you are going west from Washington. Your outfit includes a reliable watch, compass, almanac and map.

You start out with Washington Observatory time. After travelling west by compass for some days, you consult the almanac and find that upon the following morning the sun will rise at 5 o'clock. As the sun comes over the horizon you know it is 5 o'clock at your point of observation but your watch will show Washington time to be 6 o'clock, or an hour later. Knowing that an hour's difference in time means a distance of nearly a thousand miles, you could, by measuring off that distance on your map, obtain a fairly accurate knowledge of your location.

The mariner does somewhat the same thing in a more nearly accurate way. His chronometer, or clock, is set on Greenwich time. At sea he determines sun time with a sextant instead of an almanac. He then figures out the difference degree instead of miles. The result shows him exactly how far he is east or west of the meridian of Greenwich.

The distance north or south of the equator is determined by another observation with the sextant, into which the chronometer does not enter, but after having determined both his longitude and latitude in the manner described the mariner can consult his chart and see the exact position of his ship.

Thus the importance of having a reliable chronometer is revealed, for should it play the mariner false he might go far out of his course or upon the rocks.

But the foregoing description of the purpose of the chronometer bears about as much relation to the mariner's understanding of it as would be the case were we to define a ship as a vessel to convey persons and things across the sea. If you wish to really understand chronometers, say from the viewpoint of a Naval Academy graduate, whose hobby has been higher mathematics, devote a couple years to astronomy and logarithms and then go to it.

Some American concerns are now making chronometers, but the Emergency Fleet Corporation, in the interest of preparedness, hopes to meet any unforeseen chronometer shortage in a way characteristic of American enterprise. This country has long made good watches, so instead of having three chronometers for each ship, some will have on chronometers and also two comparing watches. The latter, which are undergoing thorough test by the U. S. Bureau of Standards, are considerably larger than a pocket watch and are made solely with reference to accuracy. They cost much less than chronometers, and if they meet full and final tests will be an economical substitution.

INCOMING PORTO RICANS EAGER FOR WORK

Among the Porto Rican laborers who are being transported to America to supplement the labor supply are many men of 60 years or more.

One of the most interesting and at the same time pathetic sights connected with the moving of these great numbers of men to the United States is the eagerness of the old men to reach what they consider a land of promise. They have worked in the island for the whole term of their existence without a thought that they would ever be able to leave it, until now the war's demands have provided them with opportunities in a new country.

When the first chance came the local office of the Department of Labor in San Juan was almost swamped with eager applicants for jobs in America. The men will be used largely in agricultural work in the south, where the climate will not be greatly unlike that to which they have been accustomed and where the agricultural conditions are similar to those in Porto Rico.

GRANDMOTHER WAS THE DRUGGIST

In the early days of our country grandmother was the druggist, and her drugs consisted mostly of roots and herbs gathered from the fields and forests. There was coughs, skull-cap for nervousness, thoroughwort for colds, wormwood for bruises and sprains and so on. They were successful remedies, too. It was from a combination of such roots and herbs that Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., more than forty years ago, originated her now famous Vegetable Compound; and during all these long years no other remedy has ever been discovered to restore health to ailing women so wonderfully as this good old-fashioned root and herb medicine.

The towboat D. T. Lane sank three barges of coal near Dam 31, below Portsmouth, on her last down trip. One of them is near the Kentucky shore and is a dangerous obstruction to navigation. There is plenty of work for the snagboat, but it will have to go over until next year on account of the near approach of winter.

Be Patient

When you have an unpleasant experience with the telephone service, do you ever stop to think how many times you use the telephone without that experience?

To those most familiar with the problems of telephone operation the wonder is NOT that the service fails to satisfy every individual every day, but that it serves so many individuals SO WELL every day.

In this city we answer an average of 10,000 calls each day.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TUES. NIGHT

Directors For the New Year Will Be Chosen By Membership of Organization at Annual Banquet—Plans Now Complete—Many Will Attend.

All plans for the annual meeting and banquet of the members of the Maysville Chamber of Commerce are now complete. The banquet will be held at the St. Charles Hotel at 6:30 o'clock and it will be prepared by Col. Charles Rhomiller, who has established his reputation for serving such feasts.

The election of directors is a very important piece of business and as many of the members as possible should be present at the meeting. The committee which has been selling tickets reports that they have met with much success and there is every reason to believe that there will be a good sized and representative crowd of Maysville's business men. The policy of the organization depends largely upon the personnel of the directorate and the members should take an interest in their election.

Besides the splendid feast that Col. Rhomiller is preparing it is expected that there will be several addresses by prominent members and an annual report of the work of the institution will be presented by Secretary Dadds.

PLANNING FOR A LARGE CROWD ON COUNTY COURT DAY

Next Monday is County Court Day in Maysville and Although Farmers Are Very Busy Large Crowd Is Expected.

Its beginning to look like winter is coming and the farmers have begun to get rid of their extra horses to keep from feeding them through the winter. This fact is expected to bring many horse traders and a large number of farmers to Maysville on next Monday for the regular County Court Day stock sales.

On last Court day although the weather was disagreeable there was a very large crowd of farmers. The stock sales are proving more popular each month. Maysville is now having crowds equal to most any of our neighboring counties who have had live stock sales for years.

On account of the influenza there has been no special features arranged for the day but it is certain that there will be a large number of horses and quite a number of cattle. The sale of pure bred cattle here several weeks ago has greatly revived the interest in cattle in Mason and adjoining counties and it is expected that much more interest will be taken in cattle this court day than has been taken for some time.

AUTO STRIKES MILK WAGON FROM REAR

An automobile driven by Miss Frances Tuggle collided with the rear end of the Traxel-Glascock milk wagon at East Second and Union streets yesterday afternoon. The rear doors on the milk wagon were damaged and a large number of milk bottles, which spilled into the street making such a noise as to attract the neighborhood, were broken. Miss Tuggle was driving west on Second street and the milk wagon was entering Second street from Union when the accident occurred.

COUNTY SCHOOLS WILL NOT OPEN MONDAY

Superintendent Turnipseed of the County Schools, and the County Board of Education have decided to postpone the opening of the county schools to a date later than that selected for the opening of the city schools. Just when conditions in the county will warrant the opening of the schools is not known.

HUNDREDS PAY COUNTY TAXES

Today is the last day for the payment of County Taxes before the penalty is attached and all during the day the County Sheriff's office has been crowded with taxpayers. This rush has been on for the past several days and the sheriff and his deputies have been about the busiest people in the city.

The City Board of Health plans to raise the ban in this city Monday and therefore the churches for tomorrow will have to hold their services under the usual restrictions. There will be but one service and that in the morning. See church column elsewhere in this issue.

KIDS KEEPING UP BIG CELEBRATION

The youngsters and auto drivers seem to be keeping up the big celebration of victory and especially thru the East end. Last night a number of youngsters awakened the neighborhood with a great bombardment of large fire crackers.

160 HENS-1500 EGGS

Mrs. H. M. Patton, Waverly, Mo., writes "I fed 2 boxes of 'More Eggs' to my hens and broke the egg record. I got 1500 eggs from 160 hens in exactly 21 days." You can do as well. Any poultry raiser can easily double his profits by doubling the egg production of his hens. A scientific tonic has been discovered that revitalizes the flock and makes hens work all the time. The tonic is called "More Eggs." Give your hens a few cents' worth of "More Eggs" and you will be amazed and delighted with results. "More Eggs" will double this year's production of eggs, so if you wish to try this great profit maker, write R. J. Reefer, poultry expert, department 765 Reefer Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., for a $1 package of "More Eggs" Tonic. Or send $2.25 today and get three regular 1 packages on special discount for a season's supply. A million dollar bank guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied, your money will be returned on request and the "More Eggs" costs you nothing. You take no risk. Write today. Pin a dollar bill to your letter or send $2.25 special discount for packages. Or ask Mr. Reefer to send you free his poultry book that tells the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

SCHOOLS OPEN MONDAY

The Maysville Public Schools will re-open Monday according to announcement made at the meeting of the Board of Education last night. All of the buildings have been put in first-class shape and all of the students who have not had influenza in their homes for the past ten days are expected to be in their accustomed places. Picture shows will also open and the ban will be practically lifted.

A Daughter of France

Featuring VIRGINIA PEARSON

This great picture was shown at the matinee the day the ban was put on by the Health Board, those who saw it pronounced it one of the best war pictures ever brought here.

It tells a story of a brave French girl who fights for France and to save her honor. See the treatment of the French women by the invading Huns and the terrific fighting in the front line trenches, the destruction of the French Homes.
